MISSION STATEMENT

The Port of Brownsville will be a leader in developing economic opportunities, improving the quality of life, creating the best transportation facilities possible, and exhibiting high standards of public administration – all with the goal of making the Brownsville area a great place to live and do business.

A LETTER FROM THE CHAIRMAN

Dear Friends of the Port,

This past year has taught us a lot.

It has taught us the importance of family and friends. It has awakened us to the vulnerability of so many things we once took for granted. It has taught us about personal courage and compassion, and of the resiliency of our communities and economies in pushing forward even through the most difficult of times. And in the process, we learned a lot about ourselves.

In a year in which we could have simply hunkered down to weather the storm, I am very proud of the work our port staff did in assuring unimpeded shipping operations for the sake of all those who depended on us. Port tenants, shippers, truckers, rail partners and others worked through the challenges to keep cargo flowing and local individuals employed.

A sincere recognition goes out to my fellow commissioners serving the Brownsville Navigation District who, through thoughtful leadership, never lost sight of the district's priorities in moving the port forward for the betterment of our communities. I know how hard each of my colleagues work in making the port the Rio Grande Valley's leading economic engine.

We proved resilient in 2020, never losing sight of our duty as a critical gateway for trade and commerce. Rio Grande Valley farmers saw their sorghum being shipped to foreign ports as we earned a $14.5 million grant to expand grain operations to create more opportunities, while the port's shipbuilding and ship recycling tenants earned numerous major contracts that will add hundreds of well-paying jobs to the region. By the end of 2020, we moved 11.6 million short tons of diverse cargo with operating revenues of $37 million, both records for the port. We saw more than 51,000 railcar movements during the year while Foreign Trade Zone No. 62 processed $4.3 billion in exports, both records as well.

For a year that could have knocked us backward, the entire port community pushed forward with resilience. We are tremendously thankful for the work of everyone over the past year as we overcame significant challenges, and we are even more optimistic in our opportunities going forward.

With Respect,

Sergio Tito Lopez
Chairman
Brownsville Navigation District

A LETTER FROM THE PORT DIRECTOR

Dear Readers,

Thank you for your continued interest and support of the Port of Brownsville. For 85 years, the port has served the diverse needs of our growing community. Starting as an agricultural port and resource for local farmers, the port now serves as a global hub for energy, steel – and yes, agricultural products too – while growing a solid industrial base in shipbuilding and ship recycling. Today, the port is the major economic and job-creation engine in the region, supporting tens of thousands of jobs and billions in economic activity.

Our commitments, though, go deeper. The Brownsville Navigation District Board of Commissioners established in 2020 a scholarship aimed at helping deserving students further their education and pursue their dreams. To date, the scholarship program has awarded $64,000 benefiting dozens of high school students attending schools within the navigation district. The port and our business partners have contributed to scores of local charities and causes. We are proud to be part of this of civic-minded business community.

In the following pages you will read about the incredible successes that occurred across the port in 2020, and in our outlook for the years ahead. These successes came from commitments, investments and careful management over the years, reflected in the solid financial and administrative credentials the port continues to earn. I appreciate today's staff and the Commissioners of the Brownsville Navigation District in helping the port fulfill its obligations to our shippers, our tenants, our employees and our regional community.

The economic opportunities before us hold the promise for future generations. Whether it is building ships at Keppel AmFELS or building space rockets at SpaceX, the Port of Brownsville plays a significant role in ensuring there are diverse opportunities for our next generation of Rio Grande Valley residents and families.

On that exciting day in 1936 when a few thousand people first gathered on the docks of the new Port of Brownsville, I doubt anyone would have envisioned the progress we've made today. The port is now home to 273 companies and approximately 4,000 employees, and I can't wait to see what we continue to accomplish – together.

Respectfully,

Eduardo A. Campirano
Port Director and CEO
Port of Brownsville

A Legacy of Contributing to our Community

Thousands of residents from across South Texas lined the docks of the Port of Brownsville on a beautiful Texas day, gazing at the ships and excited for the economic opportunities they represented. They saw the prospects of overseas markets for local goods, as well as worldwide access to supplies for local businesses. They saw the opportunities for economic growth and good jobs for local families. They saw the unique value of the only deep-water port on the United States–Mexico border, positioned as no other to serve communities across both countries.

The year is 1936, and as we celebrate our 85th anniversary our economic vision is just as bright today.

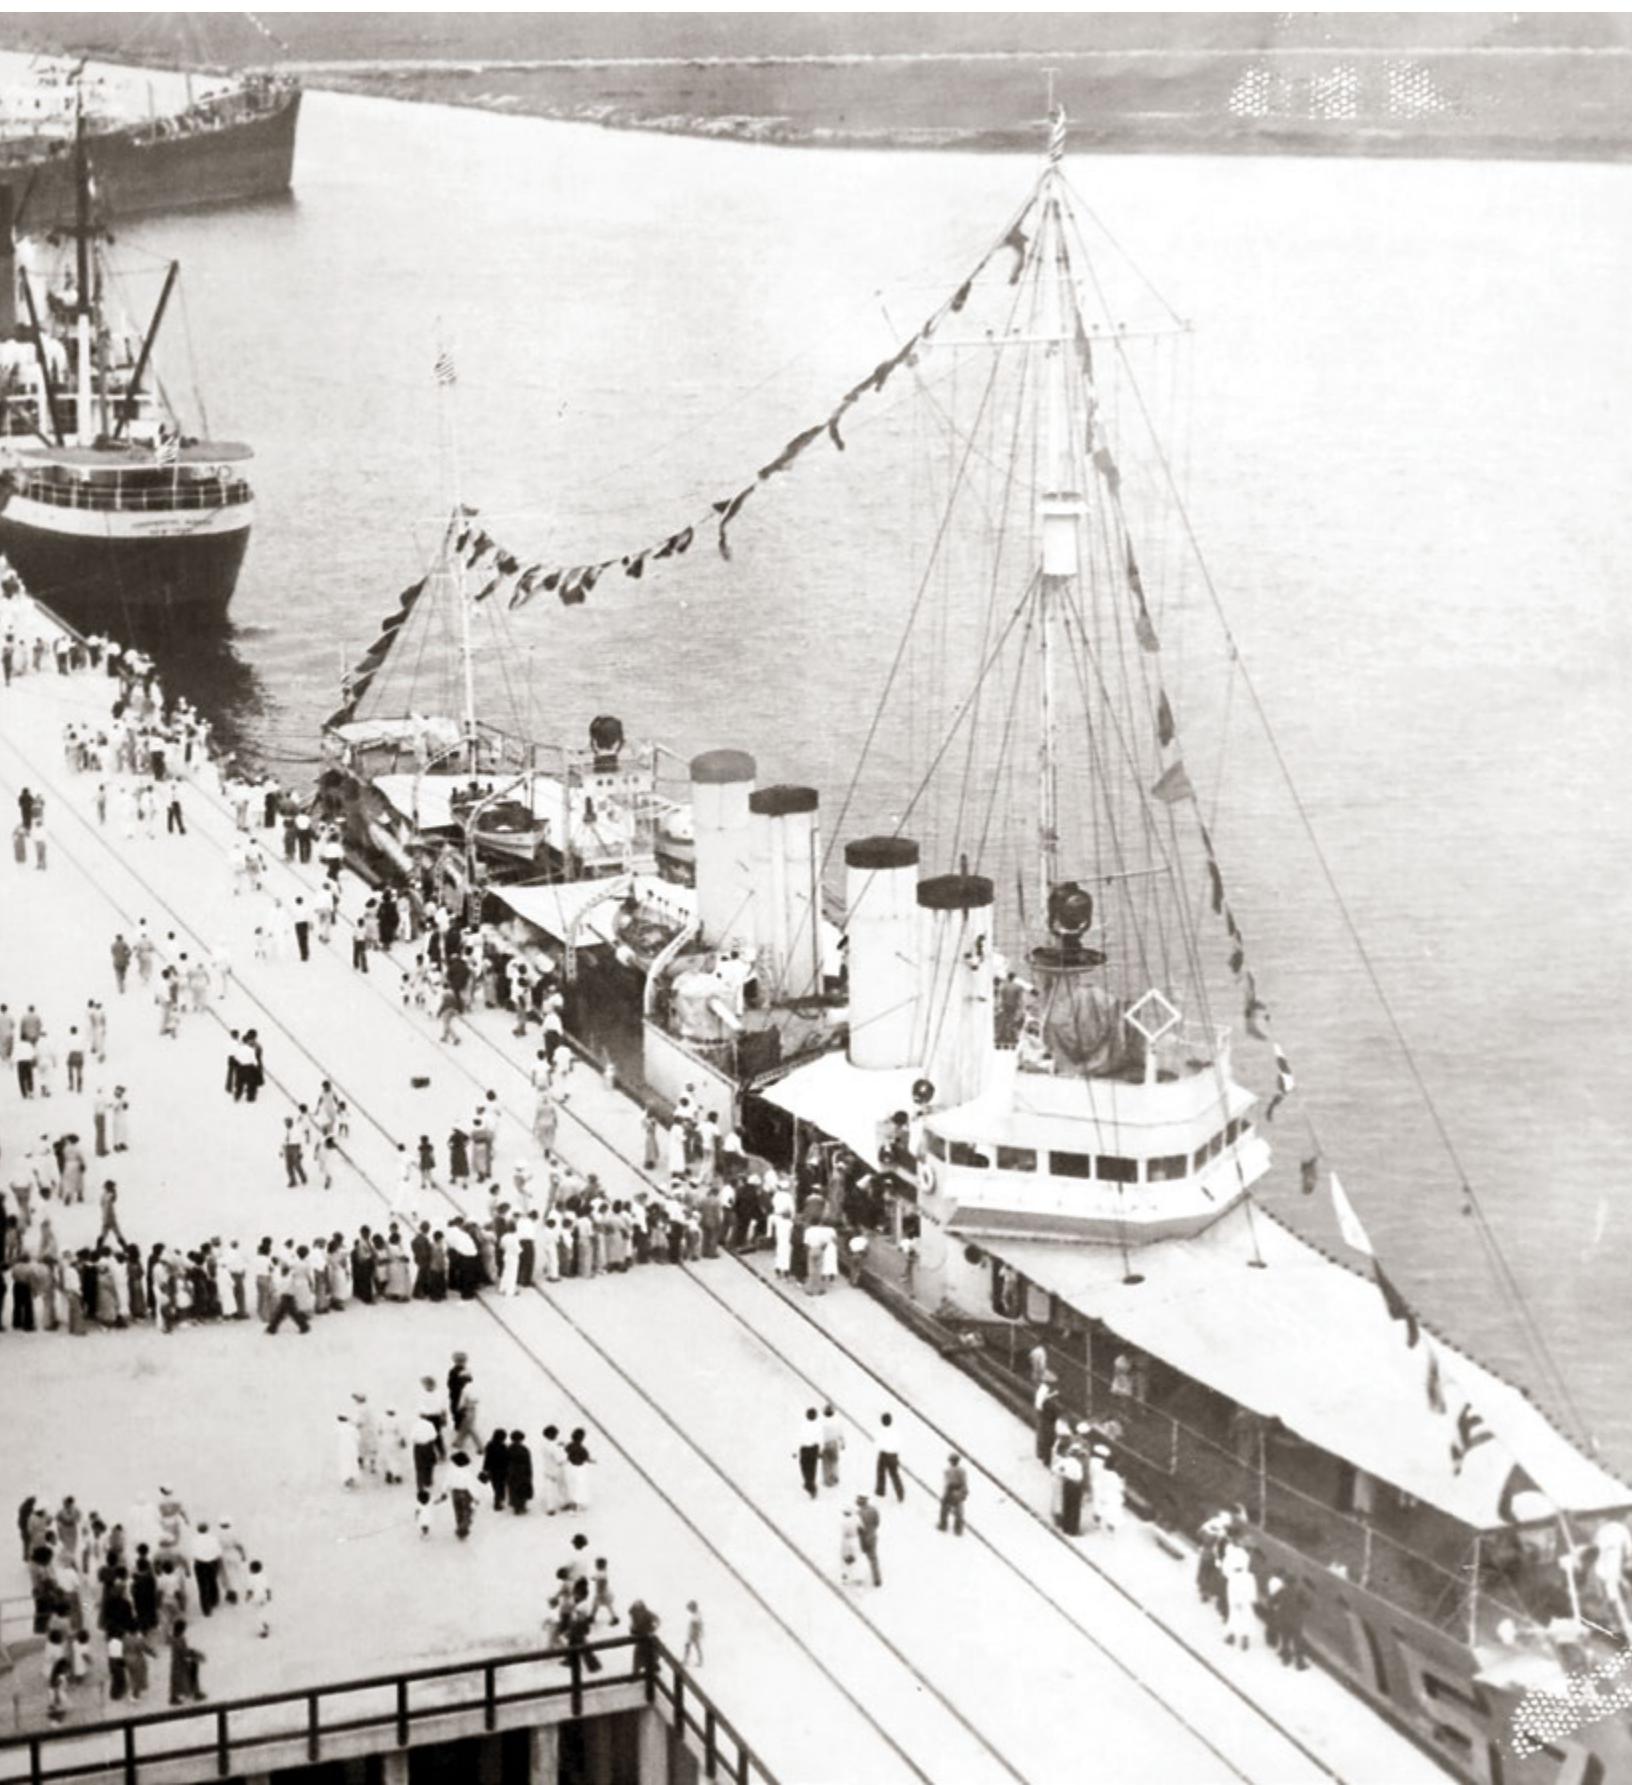

The port's original focus on agricultural products – mainly shipping locally grown citrus fruits and cotton to overseas markets – expanded greatly over the years, providing a diversified foundation in energy, steel and other sectors. Known in the 1940s as the Shrimp Capital of the World, the port today is rapidly growing a reputation of being a premier shipbuilder for the Jones Act market and a global ship recycling center, providing a solid base for well-paying industrial skills jobs.

Today, the Port of Brownsville is the driving economic engine for the region, responsible for more than 51,000 jobs and $3 billion in annual state economic activity, according to the latest analysis, with more than 8,500 regional workers directly employed by activities at the port. These jobs infuse more than $2 billion annually into the Rio Grande Valley, distinguishing the port as the region's leading economic driver and important job generator.

And just like the early years saw much progress, the success of the 273 companies at the Port of Brownsville offer optimism for the years ahead. Our unique location, range of capabilities and smart investments will continue to benefit our regional community for decades to come.

Crowds gather to view the ships docked during the celebration of the opening of the Port of Brownsville May 14, 1936. Thousands of local citizens participated in the various events organized for the historic milestone. When the celebration came to a close the port that works was open for business.

Economic Resilience, Bright Outlook

The Port of Brownsville has come a long way in its 85-year history, finding ways to overcome challenges and ever-changing global markets. The port proved resilient throughout 2020 in the face of the COVID-19 pandemic and its related economic challenges, moving a record-setting 11.6 million short tons of diverse cargo with operating revenues of $37 million, far above 2019's high watermark of $24.6 million, providing the foundation for continued investment in economic growth, job creation and environmental stewardship for today and future generations.

Over the past several years, the port has continued to strengthen its financial position, increasing cash reserves while investing in key infrastructure improvements. The Port of Brownsville ranks third among U.S. ports for "strong financial resilience" surveyed in a 2020 report issued by Moody's Investor Services, underscoring the ongoing value of the port's prudent financial stewardship in light of economic impacts from the worldwide pandemic. Moody's analysis evaluated American ports on a range of key factors surrounding financial responsibility like the ability to handle the impact of a significant decline in cargo volume, financial liquidity and debt service coverage ratio. Weighing these important factors, the analysis ranks the Port of Brownsville among the most stable in the nation and better able to weather today's unique economic challenges.

Moody's also highlighted the important advantages of a "landlord" business model – in which authorities like the Port of Brownsville partner with tenants primarily through stable long-term leases – versus the "operator" model in which authorities conduct daily operations directly for port customers, which can result in "high revenue volatility in periods of stress." Moody's concluded that "the landlord model has historically proven to stabilize revenues," underscoring the Port of Brownsville's advantage in managing risk as the largest land-owning port in the United States, with more than 40,000 acres and available resources for large-scale industrial developers. The report also highlights the Port of Brownsville's strong 5.0 Debt Service Coverage Ratio (DSCR), which is more than double that of most other ports Moody's analyzed and indicates "a strong position from which to absorb and manage revenue pressures." DSCR is a standard measure of cash flow available to pay current debt obligations. Through such careful financial management, "ports' debt service coverage and liquidity are key credit features that enable them to manage revenue disruptions and other extraordinary challenges in this period of unprecedented stress," the report states.

This prudent financial stewardship is the result of the thoughtful and strategic planning set by the Brownsville Navigation District Board of Commissioners to protect the interests of port tenants and users, constituents and port assets. The five-member elected commission is chartered by the State of Texas and charged with setting port policy and approving major expenditures. BND Commission members are elected to four-year staggered terms and meet twice monthly, governing the activities of the port. The BND Commission is comprised of Chairman Sergio Tito Lopez, Vice Chairman Ralph Cowen, Secretary Esteban Guerra and Assistant Secretaries John Wood and John Reed. Management of the port day-to-day activities is accomplished by Port Director and CEO Eduardo A. Campirano.

The Port of Brownsville proved resilient in 2020, moving a record-setting 11.6 million short tons of diverse cargo with operating revenues of $37 million.

Continued Investment

The Port of Brownsville began 85 years ago as a major agriculture hub for the region, and 2020 saw the restart of grain exports of regionally grown sorghum destined to China, creating new international market opportunities for South Texas farming families. The port completed the rehabilitation of Bulk Cargo Dock, improving access to the 3 million-bushel grain elevator operated by WestPlains LLC. In 2020, the port received a $14.5 million grant from the U.S. Department of Transportation to improve railroad, road and ship-loading infrastructure at the Bulk Cargo Dock and further expand WestPlains' grain-handling operations at the facility.

To keep up with growing demand for additional cargo-handling capabilities, the port invested in a pair of new mobile harbor cranes delivered in 2020. Each crane has 28 wheels and 14 axels and stands at more than 150 feet at their highest height. They are equipped with an advanced mobile harbor crane drive technology that meets EPA Tier 4f emission standards, helping the Port of Brownsville reduce its environmental footprint. The cranes also boast a maximum lifting capacity of 137.5 short tons and an outreach of up to 167 feet.

Construction of the $25.6 million South Port Connector Road continues and is scheduled for completion by the end of 2021. The project is a partnership of the BND, Cameron County, the Cameron County Regional Mobility Authority (CCRMA), the Rio Grande Valley Metropolitan Planning Organization (RGVMPO) and the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT). The port connector offers a direct connection to the southside of the Brownsville Ship Channel and an alternate route to nearby commercial lanes at the Veterans International Bridge. It will also facilitate the flow of cargo and other goods related to the space industry from the port docks to the neighboring SpaceX facility at Boca Chica.

Additional outside storage capacity also experienced dramatic expansion at the port in 2020, now totaling more than 62-acres of purpose-built facilities to accommodate heavy point-load-bearing cargo, like wind energy nacelles – some weighing more than 112 tons each. Along with hubs, tower sections and windmill blades (the largest reaching 265-feet-long), the Port of Brownsville ranks among the leading U.S. ports capable of receiving, storing and moving these massive components. And due to the prevailing winds of south Texas, combined with the abundance of available land on both sides of the U.S. Mexico border, windmill farms are growing all across the region.

Many port tenants are investing millions of dollars to grow their businesses. Refined petroleum storage tank farms are sprouting up at the Port of Brownsville. Combined estimates place tank farm storage capacity – underway or complete – to now be at 7.1 million barrels. And there's more under construction.

Growth is clearly evident around every turn at the Port of Brownsville, the port that works.

The Port of Brownsville ranks among the leading U.S. ports capable of receiving, storing and moving massive components for the wind energy sector. In 2020, the port handled a record 21 wind energy projects, including the largest windmill blades ever imported to the U.S. at 265-feet long.

Diversified Success

Steel is a large and significant mainstay in Brownsville, where the port is the major gateway for steel into Mexico, moving more than three million short tons of steel commodities per year.

The Port of Brownsville is the closest deep-water port to Mexico's industrial center in Monterrey – more than 100 miles closer than the nearest Mexican port, saving shippers time and money with direct access to many area factories.

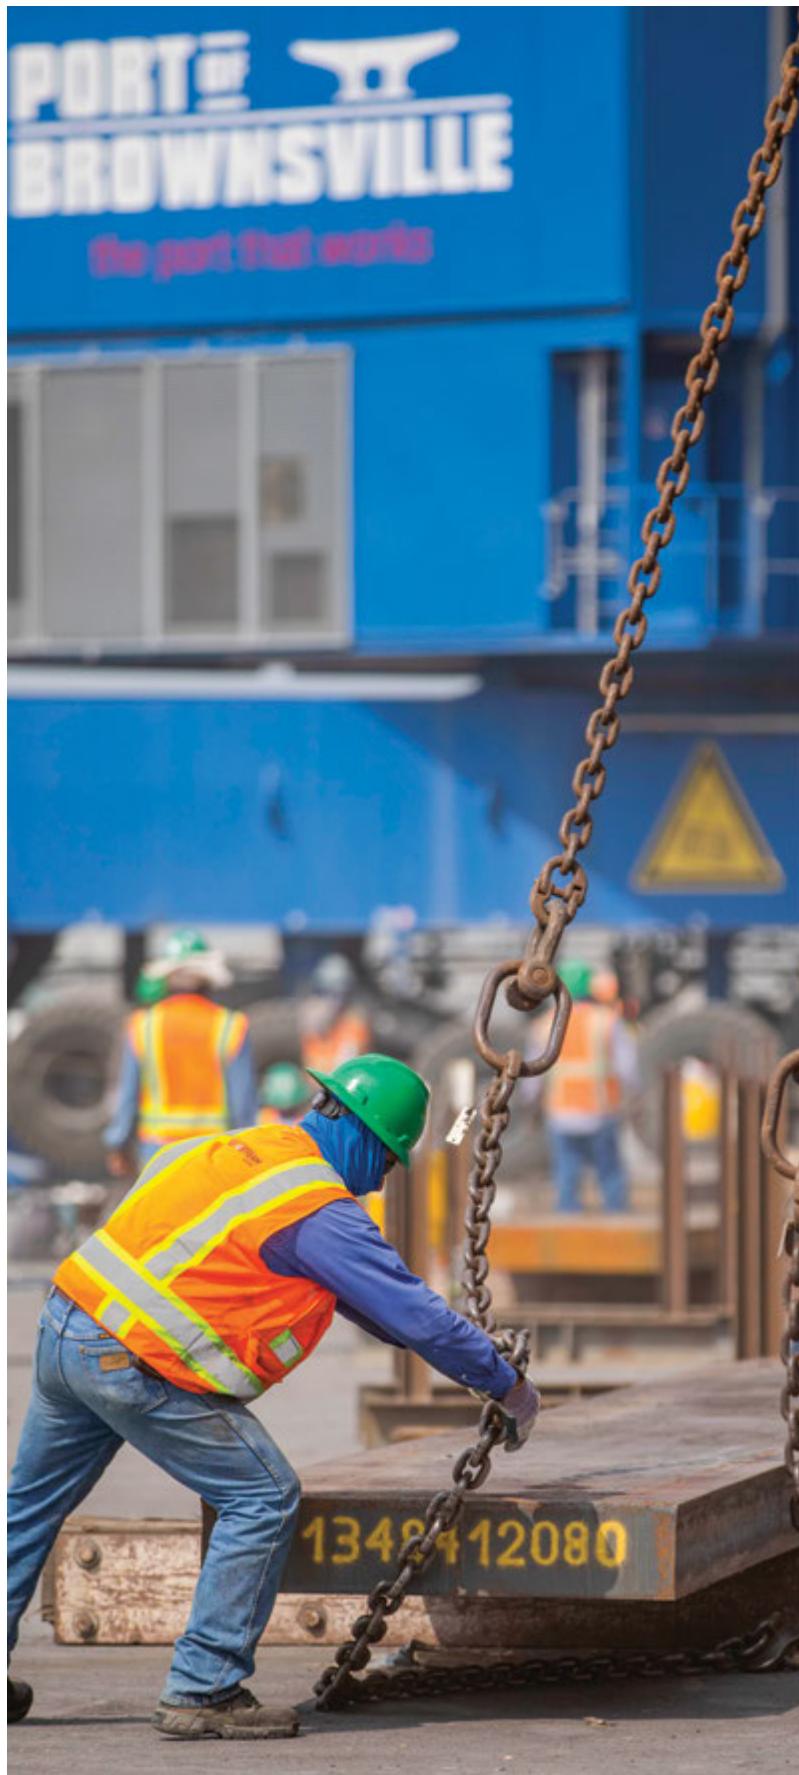

Under construction is a major terminal development at the port to maximize the efficient loading of open-top gondola railcars for steel slab shipments to feed Ternium's recently expanded mill in Pesqueria, Nuevo Leon, Mexico. With an expected increase of steel throughput, the Port of Brownsville is planning to spend millions to accommodate greater volumes and expedite the movement of steel through the port.

The port is also a major transshipment center for liquid products like premium gasoline, diesel, jet fuels and lubricants, before being transported to final destinations across Mexico. Previously, customers in Mexico had to purchase energy through Pemex – but now, they can acquire commodities on the market through their own resources. As a result, demand for refined products continues to steadily grow and the port's capabilities to manage large volumes gives customers the reach into the interior of Mexico – a significant advantage in the competitive market.

For example, Sunoco LP, one of the largest independent fuel distributors in the United States, announced in May 2021 the development of a refined products terminal at the Port of Brownsville. The greenfield terminal, with 560,000 barrels of storage, will provide supply flexibility to the company's existing fuel distribution business in South Texas. The site will also facilitate Sunoco's efforts to sell into the growing fuels export market to Mexico. Sunoco expects the terminal to be in service by the second quarter of 2022 with a total investment of approximately $55 million of which approximately $40 million will be invested in 2021.

In the most recent report to the Foreign Trade Zones Board, FTZ No. 62 recorded a record-setting $8.9 billion for the combined value of imports and exports moving through the zone in 2019. The total value of export shipments through FTZ No. 62 reached $4.3 billion in 2019; $4.6 billion in imports. These numbers, the highest recorded in the zone's history, saw products in the petroleum industry and shipbuilding equipment, supported by the steady transport of steel, aluminum and wind energy components. The Port's strategic location on the U.S./Mexico border makes FTZ No. 62 an attractive place for shippers and cargo owners, which supports further job growth in the community.

Ranking among the top U.S. steel ports, the Port of Brownsville moves more steel into Mexico than any other domestic competitor. In 2020, the port moved more than 3 million short tons of steel across the southern border.

That comes as no surprise with more than 10 million eager consumers within a three-hour drive of the port – with many of those located south of the border. Moving cargo across the border in both directions is made easy with a wide variety of reliable transportation options.

Providing Class 1 rail service to and from the port to Mexico and all of North America includes Kansas City Southern de México for operations south of the border, and with Union Pacific and BNSF Railway serving northern routes. On-port rail service is provided by agreement with OmniTRAX, operating the Brownsville Rio Grande International Railway (BRG) on more than 45 miles of port-owned railroad.

When trucks are a better option, the Port of Brownsville claims conceptual ownership of the state's first overweight corridor. Trucks crossing the border in either direction utilizing the specially designated route to or from the port, can load to the legal weight limits of Mexico – 125,000 pounds (45,000 pounds heavier than domestic limits). That translates into real savings in both time, money and logistical efficiencies.

Longshoremen discharge steel plates from a vessel at Dock 16.

Alfa and Omega

There is growing excitement in the Port of Brownsville's continued role as a premier shipbuilder for the Jones Act market and a global ship recycling hub. These two specialized maritime industries – epitomizing the beginning and the end for maritime vessels – are found nowhere else in Texas but here at the port that works.

Keppel AmFELS, traditionally the port's largest employer and the foremost U.S. offshore rig builder, is completing two 774-foot-long containerships, set to join the U.S. merchant fleet serving American interests and moving American-made goods. The two shipbuilding contracts, valued at $400 million by Keppel, mean more than 700 new well-paying jobs at the port and a new industry for Brownsville and the Lone Star State. The twin 774-foot-long ships, built for Honolulu-based Pasha Hawaii, are designed to carry up to 2,525 TEUs, utilizing Keppel's proprietary LNG propulsion technology, resulting in reduced air emissions and better fuel efficiency.

Adding to the growing number of shipbuilding projects, the company announced in September 2020 a contract to build the largest high-specification Trailing Suction Hopper Dredge (TSHD) in the U.S. for Manson Construction Co. The 15,000 cubic yard hopper dredge has a length of 420-feet, breadth of 81-feet and draft of 28.5-feet. The Jones Act dredge will operate primarily in the Gulf Coast and Atlantic Coast of the United States supporting the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' mission of keeping the marine transportation highway open throughout the United States.

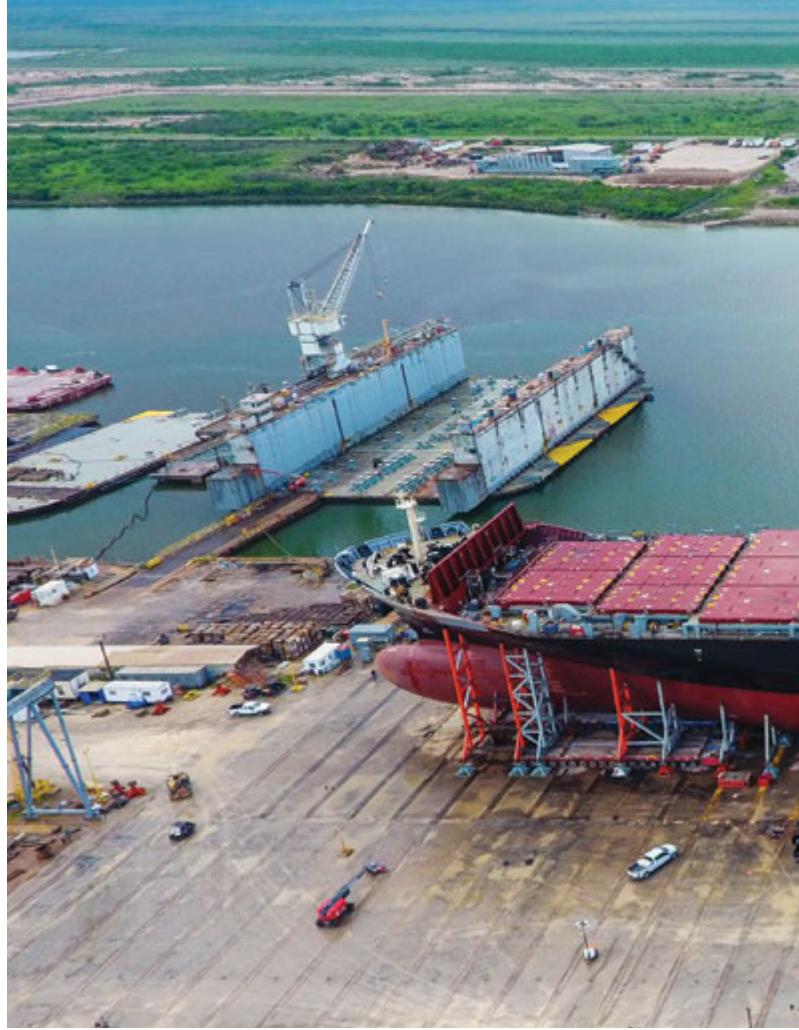

And in December 2020, Keppel held the keel-laying ceremony for the construction of the first Jones Act-compliant offshore wind turbine installation vessel. Dominion Energy contracted with Keppel AmFELS for the engineering, procurement and construction of the vessel. With several gigawatts of offshore wind capacity to be installed along the U.S. East Coast in the next decade, access to Jones Act-compliant offshore wind turbine installation vessels is of strategic importance to the U.S. offshore wind market.

To assist Keppel's transition into shipbuilding, the Port of Brownsville was awarded a $1.8 million Economic Development Administration grant from the U.S. Department of Commerce to help offset the financial commitment to construct a Vessel Assembly and Erection Pad (PAD) where the ships are being assembled. The total cost for the PAD was $5.4 million, with the port picking up the balance. The benefit to the port community is an asset that will attract additional shipbuilding activities for years, creating even more well-paying jobs in the process.

Keppel AmFELS – best known in the U.S. for designing, constructing and building offshore oil platforms and rigs – is also a leader in refurbishing and repairing rigs and platforms. For nearly 30 years as a member of the port community, the U.S. and international oil industry has counted on the company to safely deliver state-of-the-art rigs and platforms, on time and on budget.

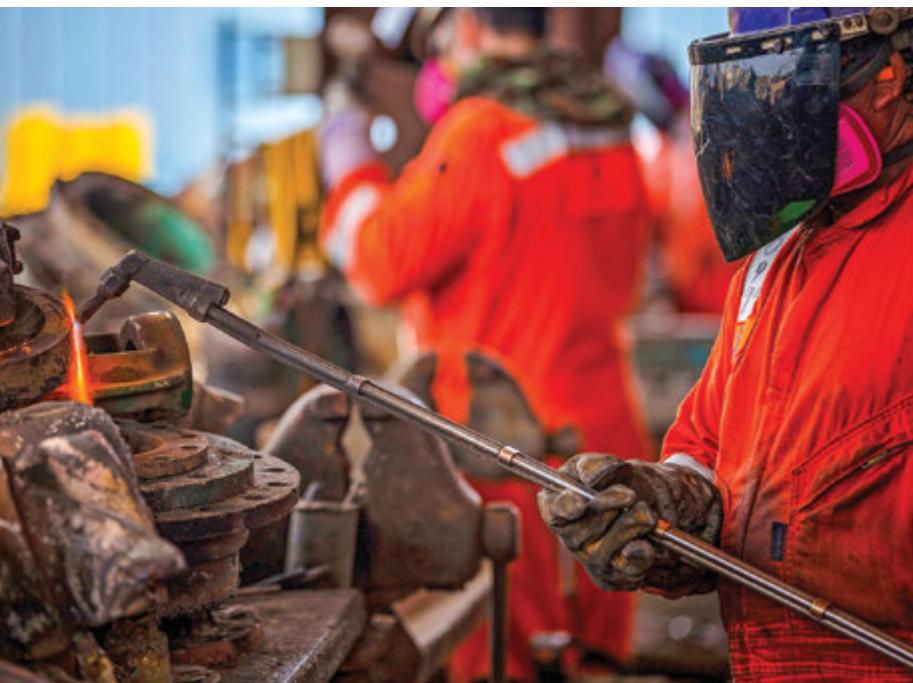

Flanking Keppel AmFELS's shipyard along the port's ship channel are the nation's leading ship recyclers, representing a legacy industry at the port. Together, they claim an estimated 85 percent of the nation's ship recycling business, where U.S. Navy, MARAD and commercial ships berth for the last time. Leading ship recyclers calling the port home include All Star Metals, EMR Group (operating as ISL), SteelCoast and others. Each of these experienced and safety-driven recyclers continue to win a steady stream of major recycling contracts from both the U.S. Government and private owners, in which each recycling project represents significant and good-paying work for hundreds of industrial workers – while providing an environmentally friendly supply of high-quality steel scrap and other valuable metals, in great demand by both domestic and foreign steel mills.

Keppel AmFELS is completing two 774-foot-long containerships, set to join the U.S. merchant fleet serving American interests and moving American-made goods.

In 2020 ISL gained EU Ship Recycling Regulation (EU SSR) accreditation for its site at the Port of Brownsville after investing $30 million in compliant infrastructure. The Brownsville site is the first U.S. shipbreaking site to achieve this accreditation. It can now help EU-based ship owners – as well as ships flying the flags of EU member states – to responsibly recycle their ships at end of life. The regulations set standards for environmental and health and safety compliance which go above and beyond stringent U.S. regulatory requirements.

Building on the Port of Brownsville's respected reputation as the final berthing place for U.S. Navy aircraft carriers, the USS Independence recently joined an exclusive and growing fraternity as the fifth Forrestal Class aircraft carrier to rest in peace at the port. ISL won the Navy contract and responsibility to recycle the 60,000-ton ship, representing the third carrier it has recycled.

The Independence was home to tens of thousands of veterans throughout its 39 years of service before being decommissioned some 20 years ago. But it lives on – along with many other recycled ships – as parts of modern vessels, automobiles, appliances and a vast array of modern conveniences.

Experienced and safety-driven steel scrap cutters at the Port of Brownsville assist in the remediation and recycling of U.S. Navy, MARAD and commercial ships.

Labor Meets The Port That Works

A port community with all these exceptional benefits and active projects requires skilled and abundant labor. The Port of Brownsville and its 273 tenant companies continue to work with local school districts, colleges, universities, technical schools and workforce development leaders in growing career opportunities for local residents. In 2020, the BND Board of Commissioners established the Port of Brownsville Scholarship Program, aimed at helping deserving high school students pursue a higher education and career dreams. To date, the scholarship program has awarded $64,000 benefiting 64 high school students attending schools within the navigation district.

Brownsville is home to one of the nation's most youthful populations, where the average age is 29. Educated, technically savvy, adaptable and motivated to succeed, these young people understand the meaning of hard work.

Many of those work for the port's three skilled stevedoring operations, who collaborated on the movement of 11.6 million short tons of cargo last year: Dix Shipping Company, Schaefer Stevedoring and Gulf Stream Marine are the backbone and muscle of the port that works. Each has distinguished themselves with records of safety and efficiency, serving the focused needs of their clients, resulting in staggering economic impacts.

According to a Martin Associates' report, cargo activity at the port's marine terminals and rig repair operations supports $3 billion in total Texas economic results, creating nearly 51,500 jobs. Of those, 8,500 local, regional direct, indirect and induced jobs are generated at the port by marine cargo vessel activity, shipbuilding, rig repair and ship recycling. Those jobs infuse more than $2 billion annually into the regional economy. Martin Associates' report concludes that $42.6 million of state and local tax revenue is generated by those activities, and another $201 million in state and local taxes are generated due to economic activity of related users of cargo moving through the port's marine terminals. These impacts distinguish the port as the region's leading economic driver.

Growing to New Depths

Arguably, the most valuable asset of any port is the depth of its channel.

The depth of a port's channel can be compared to the length of an airport's runway. The longer the runway, the bigger the planes. The deeper the channel, the bigger the ships.

For example, with just one more inch of draft – or depth – a ship can carry 770,000 additional bushels of wheat valued at more than $60,000.

The Port of Brownsville plans to deepen its channel from 42 feet to 52 feet – 10 feet deeper! With that much additional draft, the cost savings for shipping goods across the Earth's oceans reach an economy of scale far greater than those of the one-inch example. Which also means, more jobs to handle more cargo at the Port of Brownsville.

The port's current channel depth is 42 feet, already ranking it among the Gulf of Mexico's deepest ports. So why deepen an already deep channel?

Since 1914, most of the world's leading seaports designed shipping channels to match the depth of the then new Panama Canal at 40 feet – the most important shortcut in ocean shipping. In recent years, ships have dramatically increased in length and draft, prompting a massive expansion of the Panama Canal that became operational in 2016.

The Panama Canal's newest locks can accommodate ships drafting more than 50 feet and longer than four football fields. The canal expansion served as a catalyst, motivating U.S. East Coast and Gulf of Mexico ports to harmonize channel drafts with those in Panama to accommodate a flood of new shipping infrastructure challenges.

In just 85 short years, the Port of Brownsville has grown from a great idea into a major seaport, creating positive investment opportunities and jobs for the Rio Grande Valley.

BRG Continues to Pick Up Steam

The Port of Brownsville's diverse transportation logistics are strengthened by its collaboration with the Brownsville Rio Grande International Railway (BRG). Rail transportation remained vital throughout 2020 as the BRG reached a record-setting number of 51,115 loaded railcars handled at the port throughout the year.

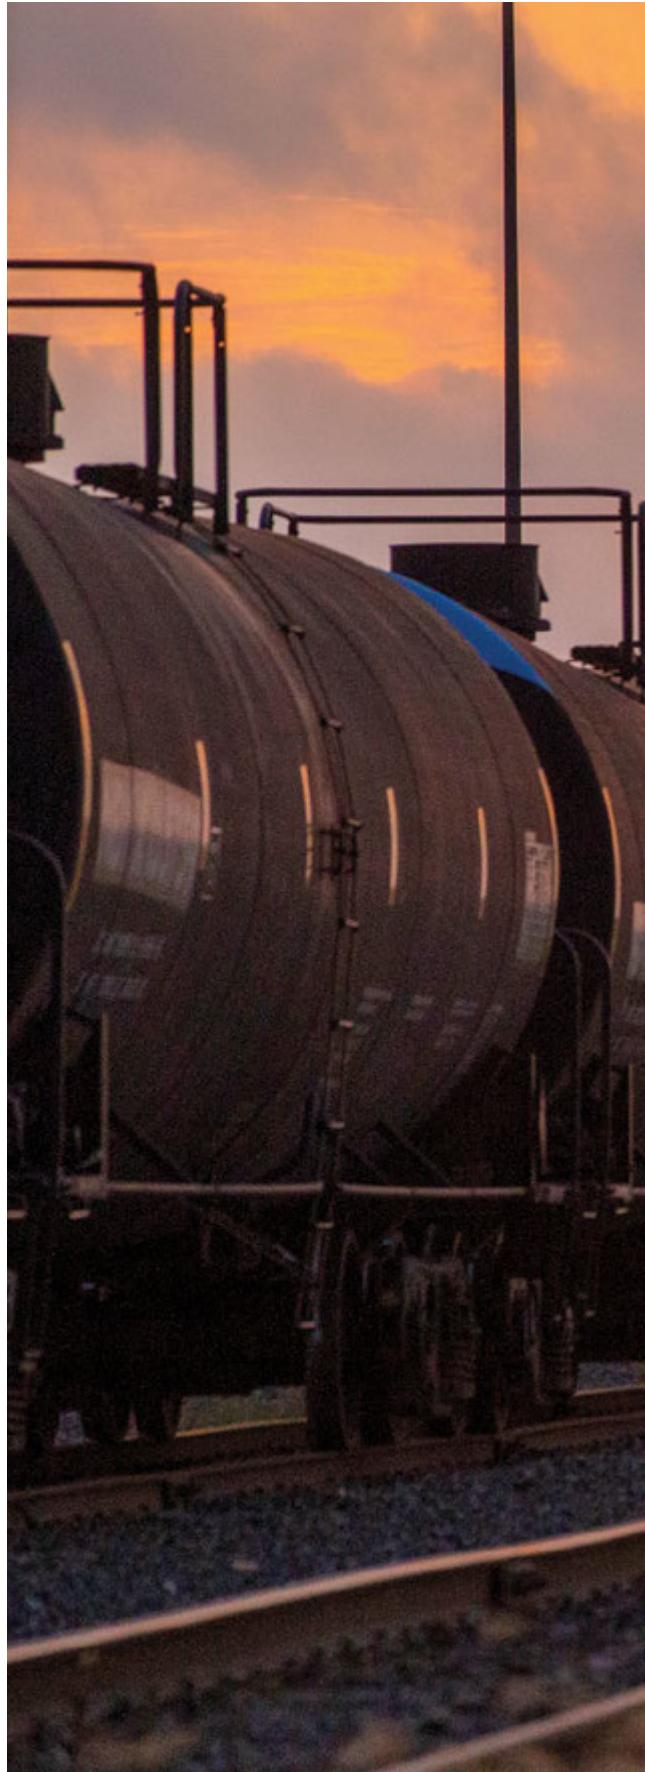

The number of annual carloads in 2020 marked a 24 percent increase from the 41,207 railcar movements in 2019 thanks to an upward trend of growing movements of steel, wind energy components, grain and refined petroleum products. The previous record was set in 2018 with 46,043 carloads.

Formed in 1984 by the Brownsville Navigation District, the BRG provides consistent, safe and reliable service to Port of Brownsville users, operating on more than 45 miles of port rail. The shortline railroad provider offers the port and its customers access to three Class 1 railroads — Union Pacific, Burlington Northern Santa Fe and Kansas City Southern de México for access into Mexico.

Since 2014, OmniTRAX Inc., under agreement, has managed the BRG enhancing services for port rail users while aiming to attract new shippers in the manufacturing and distribution industries.

Other products handled by the shortline railroad include liquid and dry bulk, agricultural products, project cargo and general commodities.

The Brownsville & Rio Grande International Railway offers the port and its customers access to three Class 1 railroads — Union-Pacific, Burlington Northern Santa Fe and Kansas City Southern de México for access into Mexico.

The BRG projects annual carloads to increase thanks to the growing movements of steel and petroleum products into Mexico.

Police and Security Department Maintain Smooth Operations

The Port of Brownsville Police and Security Department oversee and patrol the 40,000 acres that encompass the port to ensure the safety of workers and cargo transported along the port's 17-mile-long ship channel.

The dedicated team is comprised of 13 sworn police officers and eight security guards standing at the ready to enforce traffic laws to maintain operations. The officers are vigilant protectors 24 hours a day, seven days a week surveilling port property by land, air and water. Port police and security personnel check the identification of everyone entering the port, patrol the ship channel and keep a watchful eye through strategically located security cameras.

Key to the department's success is the continuous training and investment in infrastructure providing a safe and secure environment to the port community. In addition to the 40 hours of mandated training by the Texas Commission of Law Enforcement, officers at the Port of Brownsville participate in the annual Area Maritime Security Training and Exercise Program (AMSTEP) with more than 20 federal, state and local agencies. The table-top exercise tests the South Texas Area Maritime Security Plan and assesses response capability for security incidents.

The department works in close cooperation with the U.S. Coast Guard and U.S. Customs and Border Protection at the federal level, and the Texas Department of Public Safety, the Cameron County Sheriff's office and the Brownsville Police Department at the state and local level supporting the port's security efforts.

Security means business at the Port of Brownsville Police and Security Department, where commerce is accelerated by proactive protection.

Gulf Shrimp Delivers a True Taste of Texas

The briny waters of the Gulf of Mexico have given Gulf shrimp a singular and sought-after taste, bringing shrimp boats to the Port of Brownsville for over 70 years.

Gulf shrimp is considered by many to be the most valuable shrimp in the United States. For generations, local families have made shrimping their legacy by sharing best practices to keep the shrimping industry alive throughout the Gulf of Mexico.

The port's fishing harbor is home base to approximately 180 shrimp boats, which is more than 30 percent of the entire Texas shrimping fleet of 550. Located on the north side of the Brownsville Ship Channel, about five miles east of the Turning Basin, the fishing harbor features three 14-foot-deep basins with nearly 9,000 linear feet of docks.

Texas fishermen work year-round, but the peak season opens each July with the traditional Blessing of the Fleet. Each year, fishermen and their families gather before leaving port to pray for a bountiful harvest and for the well-being of all shrimpers while at sea.

Locally, the port's fleet catches approximately 13 million pounds of shrimp annually valued at approximately $72 million. Additionally, the local shrimp industry supports 1,400 jobs in Cameron County.

The Texas Shrimp Association, based at the port's fishing harbor, reports 45 million pounds of shrimp are caught by Texas shrimpers each year, contributing approximately $750 million to the Lone Star state's economy.

The port's Fishing Harbor is homebase to approximately 180 shrimp boats, which is more than 30 percent of the entire Texas shrimping fleet of 550.

Harbor at the Port

The International Seafarer Center at the Port of Brownsville is a spiritual rest stop where seafarers can strengthen their faith and recharge during their time away from the familiar sights of family and home.

Since 1974 the International Seafarer Center provides spiritual and physical comfort to honor the challenging lives and work of ship crews arriving at the port.

Chaplain Andreas Lewis serves as the administrator of the International Seafarer Center, welcoming travelers from all faiths with hospitality support.

Since taking over the center in 2009, Chaplain Lewis has made it a point to board all liquid, bulk and break-bulk cargo vessels calling on the Port of Brownsville, with assistance from the port's Harbor Master's Office.

At the modern facility, crew members can enjoy the counsel of Chaplain Lewis, use the center's services to relax or connect with family members, purchase SIM cards, or join an excursion for provisions or local sightseeing.

Visits to the Seafarer Center are free, with operating income generated by contributions of visiting vessels, local churches, the sale of SIM cards and donations to offset transportation costs. Oversight of the facility is the responsibility of a six-member board.

As the number of ships calling at the Port of Brownsville grows, the Seafarer Center attends to the proportionate demands of more visitors. Chaplain Lewis is available to those wishing to utilize the services of the International Seafarer Center by calling 956-831-4321 or 956-371-6039, or by email at pabro05@gmail.com.

Since 1974 the International Seafarer Center provides spiritual and physical comfort to honor the challenging lives and work of ship crews arriving at the port.
