LETTER FROM THE CHAIRMAN

Dear Friends of the Port,

Over the last decade, the Brownsville Navigation District has made significant investments to maintain the Port of Brownsville's standing as the global gateway for South Texas and Northern Mexico. We remain open for business moving the commodities our communities need.

The Port of Brownsville stands a cut above the rest. As the largest land-owning port authority in the United States, we have room for growth and the logistical and transportation capabilities to make international trade efficient for our customers.

In the last year, we have celebrated the completion of important port projects benefitting our stakeholders and our communities. We continue on the course for growth, with plans to take on other major initiatives to further the sustainability of our regional economy.

These advancements would not be possible without the direction and commitment of my fellow commissioners serving the Brownsville Navigation District. It is an honor to work alongside these leaders to shape the future of our port and safeguard its legacy, over 85 years in the making.

The challenges of the last few years tested our resiliency and we prevailed by providing continued services and seeking economic opportunities to enhance our port's ecosystem.

The port has earned its reputation as the leading economic engine of the region. The impacts of our port ripple throughout the Rio Grande Valley touching lives and strengthening our communities. Industries at the port continue thriving, creating over 9,000 jobs for South Texas and generating $3 billion in personal income.

Infrastructure investments further strengthen our mission to provide the best service possible. Our solid collaboration with local, regional, state, federal and other key stakeholders enables us to reach new milestones, such as the completion of the new South Port Connector Road, to provide a safer, faster commercial route for the region.

I am proud to continue on our path as we maintain the port's standing as a critical asset in our nation's supply chain and remain committed to provide abundant economic opportunities for our business partners and community stakeholders.

Thank you,

LETTER FROM THE PORT DIRECTOR

Dear Readers,

On behalf of the Port of Brownsville, thank you for your interest in the Rio Grande Valley's port for the region. Since its establishment in 1936, our communities have trusted the port to bring global trade opportunities for businesses and provide good-paying jobs.

While the port has developed leaps and bounds from that time, our mission remains the same – to be a leader in business development by providing state-of-the-art infrastructure expansion, economic opportunities, the best transportation facilities, and the highest standards of public administration.

For the tenth consecutive year, the Brownsville Navigation District earned recognition for its 2020 comprehensive annual financial report. This consistent dedication to sound financial transparency and stewardship allow us to invest in extending the life of the port. In 2021, for the second consecutive year our operating revenue surpassed the $30 million mark. Our port staff are a vital part of these successes and are driven to accomplish the tasks of the day for the rewards of tomorrow.

As the diverse industries at the port continue their trajectory for growth, we remain competitive, providing the best value. Our unique capabilities and skilled workforce have contributed to our role as the premier ship recycling port of the U.S. while simultaneously serving as home base to Keppel AmFELS, the only major Jones Act shipbuilding yard in Texas. The Port of Brownsville is the largest shipper of steel to Mexico, we play an important part in the energy sector moving massive wind energy components and refined petroleum commodities. Cargo movement at the port in 2021 amounted to 13.8 million tons, an amount projected to increase in 2022 and 2023.

Just outside our doorstep, the Brazos Island Harbor Channel Improvement project to deepen our ship channel from its current depth of 42 feet to 52 feet is in the works. Federal officials announced a $68 million commitment to the project through the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. This marks the next great stride towards the new era at the Port of Brownsville as increased depth will accommodate larger vessels enabling the port to remain competitive, resulting in cost savings for our customers.

In this issue of the 2022 Port Directory, we invite you to read about how we fulfill our pledge to our tenants, customers, and community. In times of uncertainty and change, we remain the port that works.

Respectfully,

Eduardo A. Campirano

The Port of Brownsville ranks among the leading U.S. ports capable of receiving, storing and moving massive components for the wind energy industry.

OPEN FOR BUSINESS, ON THE COURSE FOR GROWTH

The Port of Brownsville continues to play a central role for international trade in Texas and Northern Mexico, proving itself as one of the most stable seaports in the U.S. to effectively weather today's unique economic challenges.

Over the past several years, the port has remained open for business, witnessing the uninterrupted flow of commodities to service a wide range of industries across North America. In 2021, the Port of Brownsville again showed its resilient nature, moving a record 13.8 million tons of diverse cargo. The port also broke the record for the movement of steel products in 2021 with 4.3 million tons, while petroleum-based commodities represented nearly 50 percent of the total cargo moved with 6.3 million tons. Other commodities like aggregates, cement, and grains also continue showing strong gains.

The port once again recorded robust operating revenue numbers of $34 million, surpassing the $30 million mark for the second consecutive year. These high watermarks of success allow the port to stay on the course toward regional progress and economic stability.

Also in 2021, Moody's Investor Services assigned a stable outlook to the Brownsville Navigation District (BND) and reaffirmed a high A2 credit rating on its revenue bonds. The stable outlook reflects Moody's view that the port will maintain ample liquidity supported by strong operating cash flow margins. The service considered the Port of Brownsville's competitive position for cross border trade as well as the upside potential of projects at the port and major private sector investments as reasons for the high score.

Furthermore, for the tenth consecutive year, the Brownsville Navigation District Finance Department earned the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting by the Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada for its 2020 comprehensive annual financial report.

The Certificate of Achievement is the highest form of recognition in the area of governmental accounting and financial reporting, and its attainment represents a significant accomplishment by a government and its management.

This prudent financial stewardship is the result of thoughtful and strategic planning set by the Brownsville Navigation District Board of Commissioners to protect the interests of port tenants and users, constituents and port assets. The five-member elected commission is chartered by the State of Texas and charged with setting port policy and approving major expenditures. BND Commission members are elected to four-year staggered terms and meet twice monthly, governing the activities of the port. The BND Commission is comprised of Chairman Esteban Guerra, Vice Chairman Ralph Cowen, Secretary John Wood and Assistant Secretaries John Reed and Sergio Tito Lopez. Management of the port day-to-day activities is accomplished by Port Director and CEO Eduardo A. Campirano.

In 2021 the Port of Brownsville moved a record 13.8 million short tons of diverse cargo, and projections indicate an increase in cargo movement for 2022 and 2023.

EXPANDING CAPABILITIES

NextDecade expects to build the proposed Rio Grande LNG plant along the Port of Brownsville's 17-mile-long ship channel.

After years of effort, planning and success, the Port of Brownsville is ready to begin one of its most important infrastructure projects to date, the Brazos Island Harbor (BIH) Channel Improvement Project. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the U.S. Congress have authorized the deepening of the port's channel from 42 feet to 52 feet. The project may cost upwards of $300 million and construction, divided into two phases, is expected to commence at the end of 2022. Deepening the port's channel means bigger ships, more cargo, and more jobs for the Rio Grande Valley.

The port expects to pay for the project with a combination of public, private and federal funds. Demonstrating confidence in the public-private partnership (P3) strategy, NextDecade, owner of the proposed Rio Grande LNG natural gas liquefaction plant (largest of the proposed LNGs at the port), announced a landmark agreement with the port in April 2019, agreeing to pay 100 percent of Phase One of the deepening project from the western boundary of its lease site along the ship channel to the channel's offshore origin (more than nine miles) – or more than half of the deepening project.

In March 2022, the federal government announced the allocation of $68 million to the project. The funds, to be utilized for Phase Two, are provided under the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act (IIJA) Appropriations Law. The BIH project was identified as part of the IIJA to strengthen port and waterway supply chains and climate resilience. Once the project is complete the Brownsville Ship Channel will be one of the deepest ship channels in the Gulf of Mexico.

The Rio Grande LNG and Texas LNG projects have received approval from the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission and await final investment decisions (FID) for construction at the Port of Brownsville, leveraging the port's unique location, capabilities and Increasing the channel's depth from 42 feet to 52 feet will strengthen the port's competitiveness and provide cost savings for port users.

land availability as a center for natural gas from West Texas, the Permian Basin and beyond. NextDecade's Rio Grande LNG project, which includes the Rio Bravo Pipeline, is on target to announce FID on a minimum of two of its proposed five trains in the second half of 2022. The company has taken a number of steps to lower its project's carbon footprint with plans to achieve carbon neutrality in Brownsville. Texas LNG also is on track to announce FID in 2022. Together, these multi-billion dollar projects could add thousands of construction jobs and hundreds of permanent good-paying industrial jobs to the local economy.

Other continued investments include the completed rehabilitation of Bulk Cargo Dock, improving access to the 3-million-bushel grain elevator operated by WestPlains LLC. In 2020, the U.S. Maritime Administration awarded the port a $14.5 million grant to improve railroad, road and ship-loading infrastructure at the Bulk Cargo Dock and further expand WestPlains' grain handling operations at the facility. The company and the port are partnering to modernize and enhance the operational capacity of the specialized dock, with shared investments of more than $13 million to date, in an effort to create a new cost-efficient port option for all U.S. farmers to load outbound international vessels from the Port of Brownsville.

The port held a ribbon cutting ceremony March 4, 2022, for the latest commerce route of the Rio Grande Valley, the 1.9 mile-long South Port Connector Road.

The $25.6 million project is a partnership of the BND, Cameron County, the Cameron County Regional Mobility Authority, the Rio Grande Valley Metropolitan Planning Organization and the Texas Department of Transportation. The port connector offers direct access to the southside of the Brownsville Ship Channel and an alternate route to nearby commercial lanes at the Veterans International Bridge. It also facilitates the flow of cargo and other goods related to the space industry from port docks to SpaceX's neighboring facility Starbase.

The expansion of additional outside storage capacity continues at the port, now totaling more than 62-acres of purpose-built facilities to accommodate heavy point-load-bearing cargo, like wind energy nacelles – some weighing more than 112 tons each. Along with hubs, tower sections and windmill blades (the largest reaching 265-feet-long), the Port of Brownsville ranks among the leading U.S. ports capable of receiving, storing and moving these massive components. And due to the prevailing winds of south Texas, combined with the abundance of available land on both sides of the U.S. Mexico border, windmill farms are growing across the region.

Other important infrastructure developments, driven by the demands of growing industries at the port, include rehabilitation of docks and internal roads, utility infrastructure, among others.

CROSS BORDER TRADE WITH MEXICO

The Port of Brownsville is the only deepwater seaport located on the U.S.-Mexico border, providing a strategic logistics hub for a host of multinational manufacturing centers located in the northeastern, gulf and central regions of Mexico.

Monterrey is one of Mexico's leading manufacturing centers and home to many industrial corporations. The Mexican metropolis is just 200 miles inland from the Port of Brownsville, where steel makers rely upon the logistical efficiencies delivered by the port.

This logistical advantage has catapulted the Port of Brownsville as the major gateway for steel into Mexico, moving a record 4.3 million tons of steel commodities in 2021. And this volume is projected to increase to more than 5 million tons by 2023.

The increase in steel throughput is tied to the development and expansion of Ternium's industrial Center located in Pesquería, right outside the Monterrey metropolitan area. The company is utilizing the Port of Brownsville for receiving, staging, and shipping all the steel slab processed at its plant, one of the most modern industrial complexes in the world that supports the automotive, construction and white appliances industries in Mexico.

The port worked together with Ternium, port stevedore Gulf Stream Marine, the Brownsville Rio Grande International Railway (BRG), OmniTRAX, and Class 1 Rail Provider Kansas City Southern de México, on a major terminal development to maximize the efficient loading of open-top gondola railcars and expedite steel slab shipments to feed Ternium's mill in Pesquería.

The port is also a major transshipment center for liquid products like premium gasoline, diesel, jet fuels and lubricants, before being transported to final destinations in South Texas and Mexico. Demand for refined products continues to steadily grow and the port's capabilities to manage large volumes gives customers the reach into the interior of Mexico – a significant advantage in the competitive market.

The Port of Brownsville ranks among the top U.S. steel ports, moving more steel into Mexico than any other domestic competitor.

Benefiting from this advantage is Sunoco LP, one of the largest independent fuel distributors in the United States. In the second quarter of 2022, the company began operations on its refined products terminal at the Port of Brownsville. This $55 million investment includes 560,000 barrels of storage capacity facilitating the company's efforts to supply growing retail outlets in the region.

Refined petroleum storage tank farms continue in expansion mode at the Port of Brownsville. Combined estimates place storage tank capacity at 6.9 million barrels, and there's more under construction.

In the most recent report to the Foreign Trade Zones Board, FTZ No. 62 recorded more than $7.3 billion for the combined value of imports and exports moving through the zone in 2020. The total value of export shipments through FTZ No. 62 reached $4 billion in 2020, with $3.3 billion in imports. These numbers, saw products in the petroleum industry and shipbuilding equipment, supported by the steady transport of steel, aluminum and wind energy components. The port's strategic location on the U.S.-Mexico border makes FTZ No. 62 an attractive place for shippers and cargo owners, which supports further job growth in the community.

That comes as no surprise with more than 10 million eager consumers within a three-hour drive of the port – with many of those located south of the border. Moving cargo across the border in both directions is made easy with a wide variety of reliable transportation options. Convenient and efficient border crossings are located just seven miles from the port by truck or about 13 miles by railroad at the new West Rail Bridge.

Providing Class 1 rail service to and from the port to Mexico and all of North America includes Kansas City Southern de México for operations south of the border, and with Union Pacific and BNSF Railway serving northern routes. On-port rail service is provided by agreement with OmniTRAX, operating the BRG on more than 45 miles of port-owned railroad.

When trucks are a better option, the Port of Brownsville claims conceptual ownership of the state's first overweight corridor. Trucks crossing the border in either direction utilizing the specially designated route to or from the port, can load to the legal weight limits of Mexico – 125,000 pounds (45,000 pounds heavier than domestic limits). That translates into real savings in both time, money and logistical efficiencies.

The USS Kitty Hawk enters the Brownsville Ship Channel May 31, 2022, on her way to International Shipbreaking LTD's shipyard. The Kitty Hawk is the sixth aircraft carrier to arrive at the port for recycling.

LEGACY INDUSTRIES WITH A GLOBAL FOOTPRINT

When it comes to the ship recycling industry, the Port of Brownsville is among the most trusted in the nation. Home to three major ship recycling facilities, All Star Metals, International Shipbreaking Ltd. (ISL), and SteelCoast, these companies capture over 85 percent of the nation's ship recycling business, where U.S. Navy, MARAD and commercial ships berth for the last time. Each of these experienced and safety-driven recycling companies continue to win a steady stream of major recycling contracts from both the U.S. Government and private owners.

The successes of these companies have anchored the Port of Brownsville's respected reputation of being the final berthing place for U.S. Navy aircraft carriers.

On May 31, 2022, a day after Memorial Day, hundreds of veterans and other spectators stood along the jetties of the Brazos Santiago Pass, to behold the arrival of the USS Kitty Hawk, the sixth U.S. Navy aircraft carrier to arrive at the port for recycling. ISL won the Navy contract and responsibility to recycle the 61,000-ton ship, representing the fourth carrier it recycles. The Kitty Hawk joins an exclusive and growing family of aircraft carriers – USS Forrestal and USS Saratoga in 2014, USS Constellation and USS Ranger in 2015, and USS Independence in 2017 – that have made their final voyage and rest in peace at the Port of Brownsville.

Another Navy aircraft carrier, the USS John F. Kennedy, is expected to arrive by Christmas to ISL's shipyard. The recycling process of the esteemed vessels includes safety and environmental assessment, cleaning/remediation, waste disposal, structural dismantling, demilitarization, and metal processing, separation, and sale.

The Port of Brownsville is also the home to the first and only site in the country to gain accreditation from the European Union to recycle their ships. In 2021, ISL, part of the world-leading recycler EMR Metal Recycling, gained EU Ship Recycling Regulation accreditation for its shipyard after investing $30 million in compliant infrastructure. And on April 25, 2022, the company announced the completion of the first EU ship recycled in the United States, the MT Wolverine. Using innovative and sustainable recycling processes, ISL was able to recycle 97 percent of the materials removed from the 158-meter-long chemical tanker.

The benefits of ship recycling make a significant environmental impact as fewer resources are required to manufacture products from metal scrap as compared to metal ore. Additionally, recycling steel scrap from end-of-life ships reduces air and water pollution and water consumption. This thriving industry Safety is top priority for the steel scrap cutters at the Port of Brownsville shipyards who carry out the remediation and recycling of U.S. Navy, MARAD and commercial ships.

Keppel AmFELS is becoming a premier shipbuilder for the Jones Act market in the U.S.

supports hundreds of well-paying jobs throughout the Rio Grande Valley, and the employment opportunities continue to grow with each project arriving at the port.

Neighboring the ship recyclers is another legacy industry making waves at the Port of Brownsville and the state of Texas: ship building. These two specialized maritime industries – representing the beginning and end for maritime vessels – are found nowhere else in the Lone Star State but here at the port that works.

Keppel AmFELS, traditionally the port's largest employer and the foremost U.S. offshore rig builder, continues to position itself as an important ship builder for the Jones Act market. The company recently finalized the construction of two container ships for Honolulu-based Pasha Hawaii. The twin 774-foot-long container ships, the M/V George III and M/V Janet Marie, carry up to 5,000 TEUs each and utilize Keppel AmFELS' proprietary LNG propulsion technology, resulting in reduced air emissions and better fuel efficiency.

The company is currently working on two major projects. One is the construction of the first Jones Act compliant offshore wind turbine installation vessel that will support U.S. offshore wind projects along the Atlantic Coast. At 472 feet-long, a width of 184 feet and a depth of 38 feet, the Charybdis – property of Dominion Energy – will be one of the biggest vessels of its kind in the world. The vessel is designed to handle current turbine technologies as well as next generation turbine sizes of 12 megawatt or larger and will also be capable of the installation of foundations for turbines and other heavy lifts.

Keppel AmFELS' second project is the construction of the largest high-specification Trailing Suction Hopper Dredge in the U.S. for Manson Construction Co. This will be the first dredge built at Keppel AmFELS' yard at the Port of Brownsville, adding to the growing number of shipbuilding projects and job opportunities in the South Texas region. Once complete, the self-propelled hopper dredge, to be named Frederick Paup, will be the largest in the United States, representing Manson's single biggest investment in its 115-year history.

A VISION BECOMES REALITY

At the turn of the 20th Century, Commodore Louis Cobolini had a vision of establishing a deepwater seaport to serve the residents of South Texas.

The port would bring significant economic impacts to a predominantly agricultural region. Cobolini foresaw ocean shipping as vital to the future of the Rio Grande Valley, leading the efforts to establish a deepwater port. This vision was realized May 16, 1936, when the Port of Brownsville first opened to a crowd of thousands excited for the new opportunities and jobs the port would bring. Then President Franklin D. Roosevelt joined in the celebration with a telegram congratulating the region on the momentous occasion.

Throughout its 86 years in operation, the port has exceeded Cobolini's vision, becoming the largest economic engine in the Rio Grande Valley and one of the top foreign trade zones in the country connecting industries in Texas and Northern Mexico with international markets.

The port's original focus on agricultural products – mainly shipping locally grown citrus fruits and cotton to overseas markets – expanded greatly over the years, providing a diversified foundation in energy, steel and other sectors. Known in the 1940s as the Shrimp Capital of the World, the port today is rapidly growing a reputation of being a premier shipbuilder for the Jones Act market and a global ship recycling center, providing a solid base for well-paying industrial skills jobs.

In keeping with its goal to bring jobs to the region the Port of Brownsville is responsible for more than 51,000 jobs and $3 billion in annual state economic activity, according to the latest analysis, with more than 8,500 regional workers directly employed by activities at the port. These jobs infuse $2.6 billion annually into the Rio Grande Valley, distinguishing the port as the region's leading economic driver and important job generator.

STRENGTHENING OUR HUMAN CAPITAL

The Port of Brownsville is the driving economic engine for the region, responsible for more than 51,000 jobs and $3 billion in annual state economic activity, according to the latest analysis, with more than 9,000 regional workers directly employed by activities at the port and infusing $2.6 billion annually into the Rio Grande Valley.

As a job creator, the Port of Brownsville understands the need to build the human capital necessary to sustain existing industries and attract new ones. For this reason, the port and its 273 tenant companies work with local school districts, colleges, universities, technical schools, and workforce development leaders in creating career opportunities for local residents.

The skilled workforce at the Port of Brownsville is highly adaptable and ready to tackle large scale projects.

In September 2021 the Texas A&M University System and two of its state engineering agencies – the Texas A&M Engineering Experiment Station and the Texas A&M Engineering Extension Service – announced a new initiative at the Port of Brownsville to invigorate advanced manufacturing, with workforce development programs aimed at preparing people for high-need jobs. The Texas A&M RGV Advanced Manufacturing/ Training Innovation Now – called TRAIN >> Es Tu Futuro – gathers community input, creates collaborations, and develops training courses that meet the needs of current and future employers at the Port of Brownsville.

Activities at the port are responsible for more than 9,000 jobs in the Rio Grande Valley.

In 2020 the Port of Brownsville Scholarship Program was created to help deserving students pursue a higher education and career dreams. Each year, the port awards 30 high school graduating seniors with a $1,000 scholarship each to help them continue their education. To date, the scholarship program has awarded close to $100,000 benefiting many students attending schools within the navigation district.

Brownsville is rapidly growing as a global shipbuilding and ship recycling center, providing a solid base for well-paying industrial skilled jobs. This region is home to one of the nation's most youthful populations where the average age is 29. The local workforce is technically savvy, adaptable and motivated to succeed.

Many of these young people work for the port's three skilled stevedoring operations, who collaborated in the movement of 13.8 million tons of cargo last year: Dix Shipping, Schaefer Stevedoring and Gulf Stream Marine. These three companies represent the backbone and muscle of the port that works and distinguish themselves with impeccable records of safety and efficiency, serving the focused needs of their clients, resulting in staggering economic impacts.

Gantry cranes at Patio 22 maximize output as steel slabs are swiftly transported from the vessel to railcars by truck.

RAIL PROVIDES STRONG LINK IN THE SUPPLY CHAIN

An essential component of the Port of Brownsville's transportation logistics is the collaboration with the Brownsville Rio Grande International Railway (BRG). In 2021, the BRG set an all-time high record of 65,865 loaded railcars handled.

The number of annual carloads in 2021 marked a 22 percent increase from the 51,115 railcar movements in 2020, as the Port of Brownsville continues to service a range of diverse and growing industries across North America. These industries rely on the port for the efficient movement of steel, wind energy components, refined petroleum products, aggregates, agriculture products and other commodities to support a thriving supply chain.

Formed in 1984 by the Brownsville Navigation District, the BRG provides consistent, safe and reliable service to Port of Brownsville users, operating on more than 45 miles of rail within the port. The shortline railroad provider offers the port and its customers access to three Class 1 railroads — Union Pacific, Burlington Northern Santa Fe and Kansas City Southern de México for access into Mexico.

Since 2014, OmniTRAX Inc., under agreement, has managed the BRG enhancing services for port rail users while aiming to attract new shippers in the manufacturing and distribution industries.

A PROACTIVE APPROACH TO SAFETY

The Port of Brownsville Police and Security Department patrols the port by land and water, protecting the interests of the community and port tenants.

Safety means business for the Port of Brownsville Police and Security Department which oversees and patrols the 40,000 acres that encompass the port to ensure the safety of workers and cargo transported along the port's 17-mile-long ship channel.

The dedicated team is comprised of sworn police officers and security guards, as well as administrative staff. The department is tasked with maintaining operations at the port. Officers stand at the ready to enforce traffic laws to maintain vital operations.

Members of the Police and Security department are responsible for surveilling port property by land, air and water 24 hours a day seven days a week. In addition to patrolling the ship channel, port police and security personnel check the identification of everyone at the port's entrances. Strategically placed cameras also provide enhanced surveillance capabilities for the protection of the port.

Key to the department's success is the continuous training and investment in infrastructure providing a safe and secure environment to the port community.

In addition to the 40 hours of mandated training by the Texas Commission of Law Enforcement, officers at the Port of Brownsville participate in the annual Area Maritime Security Training and Exercise Program (AMSTEP) with more than 20 federal, state and local agencies. The table-top exercise tests the South Texas Area Maritime Security Plan and assesses response capability for security incidents.

The department works in close cooperation with the U.S. Coast Guard and U.S. Customs and Border Protection at the federal level, and the Texas Department of Public Safety, the Cameron County Sheriff's office and the Brownsville Police Department at the state and local level supporting the port's security efforts.

The briny waters of the Gulf of Mexico have given Gulf shrimp a singular and sought-after taste, allowing the port's fishing harbor to attract fishing boats.

TEXAS GULF SHRIMP UNLIKE ANY OTHER

The Port of Brownsville is home to many Texas Gulf shrimpers. Approximately 145 fishing vessels of the entire Texas shrimping fleet of 550 dock at the port's fishing harbor.

The briny waters of the Gulf of Mexico have given Gulf shrimp a singular and sought-after taste, bringing shrimp boats to the Port of Brownsville for over 70 years. Generations of local families have passed down best practices to keep the shrimping industry alive throughout the Gulf of Mexico.

Located on the north side of the Brownsville Ship Channel, about five miles east of the Turning Basin, the fishing harbor features three 14-foot-deep basins with nearly 9,000 linear feet of docks.

Texas fishermen work year-round, but the peak season opens each July with the traditional Blessing of the Fleet. Each year, fishermen and their families gather before leaving port to pray for a bountiful harvest and for the well-being of all shrimpers while at sea.

Locally, the port's fleet catches approximately 12 to 14 million pounds of shrimp annually valued at approximately $72 million. Additionally, the local shrimp industry supports 1,700 jobs in Cameron County.

The Texas Shrimp Association, reports 45-50 million pounds of shrimp are caught by Texas shrimpers each year, contributing approximately $600 million to the Lone Star State's economy.

The International Seafarer Center offers respite to travelers from all faiths as they dock at the port.

COME HOME TO THE SEAFARER CENTER

For almost 50 years, mariners from around the world have been welcomed to the International Seafarer Center at the Port of Brownsville as they rest and meet their onshore needs.

Since 1974, the International Seafarer Center provides spiritual and physical comfort to honor the challenging lives and work of ship crews arriving at the port. Chaplain Andreas Lewis serves as the administrator of the International Seafarer Center, welcoming travelers from all faiths with hospitality support.

Since taking over the center in 2009, Chaplain Lewis has made it a point to board all liquid, bulk and break-bulk cargo vessels calling on the Port of Brownsville, with assistance from the port's Harbor Master's Office to provide SIM cards or get shopping lists for crew members. While challenges arose due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the center remained open to serve thanks to Chaplain Lewis' dedication to make trips to local stores for those that could not leave their vessel. As restrictions have lessened, the center has provided transportation for crew members to receive COVID-19 vaccinations locally.

Visits to the Seafarer Center are free, with operating income generated by contributions from visiting vessels, local churches, the sale of SIM cards and donations to offset transportation costs. Oversight of the facility is the responsibility of a six-member board.

As the number of ships calling at the Port of Brownsville grows, the Seafarer Center attends to the proportionate demands of more visitors. Chaplain Lewis is available to those wishing to utilize the services of the International Seafarer Center by calling 956-831-4321 or 956-371-6039, or by email at palbro05@gmail.com.

BROWNSVILLE AND THE RIO GRANDE VALLEY AT A GLANCE

Brownsville is the county seat of Cameron County, Texas, and the 16th most populous city in Texas with a 2020 population estimated at 186,738. Located at the southernmost tip of Texas on the northern bank of the Rio Grande, Brownsville is directly north and across the border from Matamoros, Tamaulipas, Mexico. The historic city served as a site for several battles and events in the Texas Revolution, the Mexican–American War, and the American Civil War.

The Rio Grande Valley of Texas, covers 1,881 square miles, has a population of approximately 1.5 million, and is comprised of 46 cities and towns and more than 100 communities. Additionally, the RGV enjoys close personal and professional relationships with the people in the Mexican states of Tamaulipas and Nuevo Leon.

From Bananas to Rockets in 75 Years!

In the early 1900s the Port of Brownsville opened its 17-mile ship channel to the Gulf of Mexico and the world. Not long after that you could find a young Dick Ostos working on the docks. Eventually, business took him to Puerto Rico and New York, traveling and working. Dick came back to Brownsville and the Port in 1947 and established DIX Shipping Co. - Shipping Agents and Stevedores.

Dick was there from early on when canning plants and packing sheds were a common sight in the Valley, as the Port became the community's leading industry when cargoes of bananas, citrus, vegetables, canned and processed food stuffs and manufacturing articles were shipped to Europe and the Orient. DIX was taking care of ship's needs as well as loading and unloading cargo.

In the 1950s, when "Cotton was King" hundreds of trucks, transporting cotton from Northern Mexico came to the Port. Again, DIX was there helping load and unload ships.

In the 1960s world-wide demand for cotton decreased and grain took its place - DIX adapted to meet the demands of the grain business.

In 1970 Dick's youngest son Bob joined the company after attending college and serving his country in the Navy, becoming President in the late 1970s.

DIX has adapted through the ages transitioning to bulk products and purchasing equipment to meet the demands of business.

In the 1990s steel took over as the major product moving through the Port; DIX again adapted to the times.

In 1999, and keeping with family tradition, Bob's son Lee started working on the docks just as his father and grandfather did. After learning the business Lee eventually took over the duties of President when Bob retired in 2005, eventually changing the name to DIX Industries. DIX adapted again as wind turbines became a major cargo moving through the Port, and lately with the movement of SpaceX components.

What started out as a hope and a dream for a young man in 1947 has evolved into a family business that is constantly changing with the economy of Port.

Yet, one thing remains constant; as long as there is an Ostos, then there will be DIX Industries.

"From bananas to rockets, life at the Port has always been interesting and challenging."

PRIME LOCATION

The Port of Brownsville's proximity to Mexico, and the rest of Latin America, uniquely positions the port to serve as the transshipment gateway delivering goods and materials to nearby multinational manufacturing centers on both sides of the border.

More than 10 million consumers are within a three-hour drive of the port, with many of those located across the border.

PORT OF BROWNSVILLE BOUNDARIES

The Port of Brownsville is the largest land-owning public port authority in the U.S. with approximately 40,000 acres. The District's boundary lines stretch to the Rio Grande River, making it the only deepwater seaport directly on the U.S.-Mexico border.
